Cockerill/Stevenson family facts and philosophy

The extended Cockerill family has lived in greater Caro for over a century; and, for approximately 75 of those years, certain Cockerill/Stevenson family members lived in the “Big House” next to the Michigan Sugar Factory in town. Family patriarch Tom Cockerill worked as an accountant for Michigan Sugar, while his wife Dorothy Cockerill worked in the knife sharpening department. Years later their daughter, JoAnn, lived in the “Big House” and raised her six Stevenson children there beginning in 1970. She sold the home to her son, Robert Stevenson, in 2010. The home was later sold to a family friend.

Tom and Dorothy Cockerill’s family “branches” directly include not only Cockerills and Stevensons, but also O’Briens and Stuarts; the majority of their children and grandchildren grew up in greater Caro and attended Caro Community Schools. This scholarship honors the extended family’s legacy in the greater Caro area and the many family members who got their educational start in the Caro Community School system before going on to successful careers in education, public service, industrial arts, leadership, technology, academia, and a host of other diverse fields. The family firmly believes that every student should have the opportunity to succeed regardless of background, ability, hardships faced, and via whatever “educational” pathway they find most useful—traditional education, vocational/technical school, or other pathways as appropriate.

The family is proud to support a deserving Caro student(s) with this scholarship as they graduate and pursue the opportunities their future holds!
